New appeal after 2nd earthquake

by Dick Townsend-Smith

RESIDENTS opened their hearts with a huge response to the appeal for food and clothing after 8,000 people were killed in the Nepalese earthquake.

But as the second 'quake struck near Mount Everest last Tuesday (May 12) a fresh appeal has been launched by the local Nepalese community – one of the largest in London.

Two massive containers of mainly clothes and blankets have already been flown out to the capital Kathmandu as cargo freight from Heathrow, at £2,800 per shipment. Another two plane loads worth is ready to go, and more cash is needed to pay the freight charges.

Nepalese community leaders Fatta and Sonia Thapa have launched a second appeal for money.

"Now all we need is the money to send it," said Sonia. "Previously, we raised £10,000 in just two weeks which was fantastic."

"People have been bringing stuff to Woolwich Town Hall from all over the UK. It's been overwhelming. The Town Hall is packed, it's been absolutely brilliant and we are so grateful."

"We've had people coming here from 50 miles away to drop in baby clothes and all sorts of useful stuff. We've also had people bringing things to the Eltham Centre and East Greenwich Library."

"When the second earthquake struck everybody was very upset because they couldn't get through to their families and friends. But fortunately it was more damage to homes rather than people. The impact has been that all the roads are blocked and we have had to wait for them to be cleared."

Among the cash donations received so far are £5,000 from AEG, owners of the O2, £3,000 from the Canary Wharf Group property company and £1,000 from the Greenwich Islamic Centre. This followed a letter to businesses asking for support from council leader, Cllr Denise Hyland.

Sonia added: "I want to thank all the many people who have made donations. We really do need more, particularly from big business organisations. It would be great to hear from them."

A fundraising dinner is being planned for Friday, June 19, in the Woolwich Public Hall. Tickets are £25 and the organisers are seeking a celebrity to go along on the night to help boost ticket sales. For more information email annthapa@yahoo.com

Dog owners reminded of responsibilities

WITH summer just around the corner and the weather getting nicer, residents and families will be visiting the royal borough's many open spaces.

However, it is never nice to encounter dog mess when out and about and the council is reminding dog owners they need to be responsible and considerate when using local streets and parks.

It is dirty and lazy to fail to adequately clear up after your dog and dog mess can be a contributory factor in illnesses, with children particularly vulnerable.

The council takes decisive action to remove dog waste across the royal borough. All residential roads are swept once a week and dog mess is removed as part of this process. If there is a significant accumulation between weekly sweeps, residents can contact the council's street cleaning team to arrange clearance where appropriate. Residents are advised to effectively dispose of dog waste by wrapping or bagging it and disposing it in their black lidded bins or street litter bins.

The council also has Dog Control Orders in place and will take appropriate enforcement action against irresponsible owners for a range of anti-social behaviour. This includes dog fouling, dogs off a lead in restricted areas or more than four dogs with one walker.

Residents who witness a breach of a Dog Control Order or have a problem with dog fouling in their local area should report it to the council.

Cllr Jackie Smith, the royal borough's cabinet member for community safety and environment said: "The vast majority of dog owners are responsible but there are a small minority that fail to clean up after their pets properly. The council will always act to keep the royal borough's streets clean and take strong action against irresponsible dog owners."

"We act to remove dog mess quickly and effectively and sweep every street in the royal borough once a week. Residents can help us maintain a clean and safe borough by reporting antisocial behaviour and Dog Control Order breaches".

THE BIG SHIP SAILS: the Viking Star gracefully steers through the Thames Barrier

A NEW cruise ship on her maiden voyage sailed along the River Thames to Greenwich last Tuesday (May 12).

The 47,800-ton Viking Star is officially classed as a 'small ship' but her size enables the ship to reach the heart of great cities such as London. At Greenwich, she underwent turning and manoeuvring tests near Enderby Wharf, the former Alcatel site in Christchurch Way.

This is the site where the royal borough's planning board will consider a revised planning application to build a terminal. If agreed, it would be a first for London, with capacity for one cruise ship to berth and space for two Thames Clipper berths.

Drifting through

RESIDENTS took the opportunity to look over the Royal Navy's largest warship when HMS Ocean (pictured) moored in the River Thames at Greenwich last week.

People queued for seats on the ferry boat for the five-minute journey that took them alongside the Ocean, which was moored near Deptford Creek. Once on board they toured the ship and heard all about day-to-day life at sea from the crew. HMS Ocean is the Royal Navy's only amphibious assault ship, and is equipped with a landing platform for helicopters to support amphibious landing operations by the Royal Marines.

Sealing close ties

GENERAL Sir Nicholas Houghton Chief of the Defence Staff (CDS) visited the Greenwich Islamic Centre in Plumstead during a celebration of the close ties between the centre and the armed forces. He presented the centre director Dr Tariq Abbasi MBE with the highest commendation to mark the exceptional and rare relationship between the armed forces and the Greenwich Islamic Centre. The link has been built with the Woolwich Barracks, as well as at national level, over many years. The visit also highlighted the hard work of the centre in combating extreme and radical views and its work to promote community cohesion, peace and harmony. Dr Abbasi said: "This honour and award is not just for us as an Islamic Centre but the for the whole of the Royal Borough of Greenwich. We are privileged to receive such a unique award. We shall continue serving our communities to the best of our abilities and make sure that the religion of Islam is presented in its true and un-edited form."

Businesses back Ecology Park appeal

by Dan Stephens

AMBITIOUS plans for the Greenwich Peninsula Ecology Park were unveiled last month.

More than 50 guests from over 35 companies joined an exclusive tour of the Ecology Park to see first-hand how the first part of the development – a new outdoor classroom, will make a significant difference to the area, benefiting communities and tourists alike.

This event hosted by park managers Land Trust saw a range of London businesses attend to support the development of the Ecology Park and its campaign for the new classroom. The new educational space is set to provide exciting and fun activities through environmental workshops, conservation skills training, offer volunteering opportunities and teacher training courses.

The fundraising campaign has already received a lot of support from the public, with hundreds of people donating, and the recent event was a chance to gain further support from local businesses. The Land Trust is a national land management charity which manages green public open spaces for the benefit of local communities and is working with partners the Conservation Volunteers to develop the Peninsula's Ecology Park.

Land Trust estates manager Simon Pile said "We are delighted at the number of businesses that came along including major stakeholders in the Peninsula such as IKEA, Knight Dragon, Wates, Kier, local councillors and the Greater London Authority. There was a real buzz on the evening and we could really see that people were inspired by the Ecology Park and are really keen to help us achieve our goal."

Branching out

THE Greenwich and Bexley Credit Union (GBCU) has opened a new service desk in the Eltham Centre to serve people in the southern half of the royal borough. The Mayor of Greenwich, Cllr Mick Hayes officially opened the credit union's new facility last week (May 13), when he cut a ceremonial ribbon, and met members, staff, and local people interested in joining the GBCU. Greenwich & Bexley Credit Union has been helping local people to save and borrow safely since 1998. With over 6,000 members, it is growing about a rate of 100-120 new members a month. The credit union already has a branch in Woolwich, and the new desk will help it expand services and allow easier access by residents from Eltham and surrounding areas. Membership is open to anyone who lives, works or studies in the boroughs of Greenwich or Bexley, and members are encouraged to save a minimum of £10 per month. People can get more information and join the credit union online at www.gbcreditunion.com

Building bright futures

by Dick Townsend-Smith

MORE than a hundred young people looking for an apprenticeship in the building trade went along to a special recruitment event at Woolwich Town Hall last Wednesday (May 13).

It was organised by the council along with Greenwich Local Labour and Business (GLLaB), Berkeley Homes and Greenwich Community College.

It followed an earlier recruitment drive for the Berkeley Apprenticeship Scheme in November last year, when 40 recruits joined the scheme.

Young people aged 16 to 24 who are taken on will undergo four weeks work experience in different skills such as plastering and bricklaying at the council-sponsored construction skills centre at Kidbrooke. The training will be carried out by the community college, and is designed to help them decide which trade suits them best. Sasha Wilmot, 23, who went along last Tuesday, already knows what she wants to do. She said: "My dad is a quantity surveyor, and I've always wanted to get into construction."

After the training session, everyone in the group will be guaranteed an interview with Berkeley or one of its subsidiaries.

Tuesday's event included presentations from GLLaB, Cllr Sizwe James, the council's cabinet member for business, employment and skills, Berkeley Homes and the community college. Marlon Henry, an apprentice from last November's intake, spoke about his experiences and how he had received multiple job offers after his training.

APPRENTICE HOPEFULS: Ali Sheikh, 22, Ben Brown, 17, Sasha Wilmot, 21, and Willson Mudau, 23

Councillor stands down as opposition leader

THE leader of the royal borough, Cllr Denise Hyland, has paid a personal tribute to Cllr Spencer Drury, leader of Greenwich Conservatives, after he announced he was stepping down from the role. Cllr Drury will remain a councillor for Eltham North.

At the annual meeting of the council last week (May 13), Cllr Hyland, used the opportunity to praise his service, his kindness and his good humour.

Cllr Drury was elected on to the council in 2002 for Eltham North Ward and he has continued to represent that constituency since.

After serving as deputy leader of the Conservatives, Cllr Drury was appointed as the group's leader in 2006 following that year's local elections. During his time as the Opposition Group Leader, Cllr Drury has been a member of the overview and scrutiny committee and a range of scrutiny panels. He has also been a member of the Standards Committee and represented his group on a range of committees and panels.

Following the recent Parliamentary election Councillor Drury stood down as the leader of the Conservatives on the council and has been succeeded by Councillor Matt Hartley.

FILM previews and a chance to meet top authors are some of the new highlights of this year's Royal Greenwich Festivals.

The new Greenwich Film Festival and Greenwich Book Festival have been added to an established, comprehensive programme of events and will showcase the borough's popularity as a film location and its rich literary history.

National and international artistes will work with local organisations to entertain, enthral and involve residents and visitors for a summer fest of arts.

Last year over a million people attended the Royal Greenwich Tall Ship Festival – a key event in last summer's Royal Greenwich Festivals - which enabled visitors to explore a fleet of magnificent vessels and enjoy street performance, music and invigorating dance performances.

Events in this year's summer season of festivals are run by many of the country's best loved and most experienced cultural groups – some based in the borough from the internationally renowned Greenwich Dance to Greenwich and Docklands International Festival, whose director Bradley Hemmings was joint artistic director for the opening ceremony of the London 2012 Paralympic games.

Cllr Miranda Williams, the royal borough's cabinet member for culture and creative industries, said: "The Royal Greenwich Festivals have become a mainstay of the capital's cultural scene attracting audiences from far and wide to enjoy the entertainment on offer in the heart of a World Heritage Site. Royal Greenwich is recognised as a great place of culture, its rich mix of arts and entertainment helping to attract millions of visitors from all over the UK and worldwide every year. We are again looking forward to a great summer which will help to reinforce Greenwich as a must-see destination." Highlights over the coming months include:

New face for the future

Further revamp for St Alfege

by Dan Stephens

ST Alfege in Greenwich has now completed the latest stage of its conservation programme that will see the repair and refurbishment of the iconic and famous 17th century church originally designed by Nicolas Hawksmoor.

The third stage of the project saw the restoration of the East Portico section of the church facing onto Greenwich Church Street and its completion was marked in a ceremony last month.

This involved a choir performance and a blessing of the portico steps by the Vicar, Revd Christopher Moody. The celebration took place on April 19, the feast day of St Alfege who was martyred by the Vikings on the spot 1003 years ago to the day.

All the money for the work was raised by the efforts of a local appeal committee led by Tim

Barnes and included the generous support of individuals and grants including a substantial grant from Viridor Credits Environmental Company.

The next and biggest challenge to St Alfege's conservation programme will be the creation of wheelchair access, repaving and restoring the north side of the church.

● For more information visit www.st-alfege.org

● The church is looking to appoint an assistant organist to play its three manual Lewis from September. # New life breathed into bomb-damaged chapel

Restoration to create community hub

by Dick Townsend-Smith

HISTORIC St George's Chapel on Grand Depot Road in Woolwich is undergoing a full-scale restoration to bring it back to its former glory – and there are plans to open it up for community use such as school visits.

The chapel, opposite the Royal Artillery Barracks, was also known as the Woolwich Garrison Church. It was consecrated in 1863, and was almost destroyed by a Second World War V1 flying bomb in July 1944. Despite being a ruin, it was deemed sufficiently important to be listed Grade II by English Heritage.

The Heritage of London Trust Operations has been working on the restoration, with funding and support from the Ministry of Defence, the Royal Artillery, and organisations such as English Heritage and the Community Covenant Fund.

The chapel's original beautiful mosaics were not destroyed. They include a Venetian glass mosaic of St George and the dragon, installed around 1870. Marble tablets also survived that are inscribed with the names of gunners who won the Victoria Cross, from the Crimean War to the middle of the Second World War.

Once the restoration is complete, the chapel will be designated by the council as the memorial site to remember local residents and servicemen and servicewomen who lost their lives during times of conflict.

A Friends of St George's Chapel group is building links with the University of Greenwich and other local educational and heritage sites to see how they can work together to secure more funding. A learning pack for teachers is being developed, plus a series of talks for adult learners.

The Friends were due to hold a public event at Woolwich Library earlier this month to talk about the restoration, followed by a visit to the site.

Julie Ricketts, the Heritage Project Officer, would like to hear from anyone who remembers the church, or who had a relative with a connection to it, such as a member of the choir.

ROYAL
GREENWICH

A victory for peace

The royal borough remembers VE Day

LONDON Transport's B-type was used on London's roads before the Great War and was called into action to transport troops. Its bright red livery was painted over and the drivers along with the vehicles went to war. This surviving model (below) was restored to operational condition. It was converted into a military troop carrier last September to commemorate the role of London's transport workers during the First World War. Events it has attended include a 10-day commemorative tour of key Western Front locations in Belgium and France. Its visit to Woolwich included storytelling and a mobile exhibition.

LET'S SWING: Dancing to the music of the day

THE borough marked the 70th anniversary of VE Day in style, reliving the day in 1945 when the whole country danced in the streets as six years of war against the Nazi regime came to an end.

In Woolwich, a victory beacon was lit on the roof of the Equitable building in General Gordon Square by the Mayor, Cllr Mick Hayes. The BBC's star-studded Saturday evening concert was shown on the Big Screen.

In Eltham, the town's Royal British Legion branch laid a wreath at the War Memorial near St John's Church at 11am on Friday May 8. Then on Saturday the serious mood changed as the Legion held an all-day party in the High Street. Locals dressed up in period fashions, military uniforms, and as characters from the much-loved BBC 'Dad's Army' series. They included Corporal Jones, and Dave Treadway as Capt Mainwaring.

Meanwhile, the Firepower! museum in Woolwich had a visitor from the other great conflict of the 20th Century. It was an historic double-decker bus of the type that transported soldiers to the trenches in the First World War.

THE role that animals such as dogs and carrier pigeons have played in the conflicts of the last century is remembered by the Friends of the Pet Cemetery. They have restored and maintain the cemetery on Shooters Hill, which now includes a memorial wall where people can place a plaque in memory of their pet. Their work was admired by the borough's Mayor, Cllr Mick Hayes, when he paid a visit

SHOWTIME: left, locals gather in General Gordon Square to watch the BBC's concert on the Big Screen including friends Sophie Gray, Hanna Wright and Nicola Tilley

A NEW festival designed to bring arts to the doorstep of those living in Thamesmead launches over the half term Spring bank holiday.

Run by a mixture of local community groups as well as regional and national organisations, the events are part of the new Thamesmead Arts Festival running from May 25-31.

The event has been devised by Trust Thamesmead, the community development arm of the Peabody group, which manages land and homes in the area.

It's offering a vibrant and diverse programme of events and activities for all ages including live music, theatre, cinema, exhibitions and creative workshops at community venues across SE28. Most activities are just £1 each, although some may vary.

Events are being hosted by a number of renowned arts organisations including Theatre Street Performing Arts, Rose Bruford Performing Arts College, Emergency Exit Arts, The Brick Box, Global Fusion Music and Arts and the Albany Theatre.

Peabody's CEO, Stephen Howlett said: "The Peabody group is proud to be launching the first ever, all-encompassing Thamesmead Arts Festival. It will offer a range of activities, featuring some of South East London's most innovative and diverse artists. We hope that this one week will be the beginning of something bigger, kick-starting an arts programme that will leave a legacy lasting well in to the future."

BIDDING FOR PROPERTIES

People on the Housing register are able to bid for all properties, regardless of their banding. You must be eligible for the size of property and bids will be considered in the following order:

First Band A, followed by Band B both in priority date order.
Those in Band C will then be considered in registration date order.

Please note that there will still be some properties with age restrictions so only people of this age group can apply for these.

BAND

- A is for applicants in unsatisfactory housing, including people moving due to demolition and those underoccupying their homes.
- B is for applicants the Royal Borough of Greenwich must prioritise according to the law, particularly homeless people, and others with an urgent need to move for medical or welfare reasons.
- C is for all applicants on the housing register, including those that are in priority bands A and B.

IMPORTANT NOTICE FOR ROYAL BOROUGH TENANTS WHO ARE MOVING

DON'T GET A BILL AFTER YOU LEAVE

Under the conditions of your tenancy agreement, you have a responsibility to leave your property in an acceptable state of repair. We may visit you to check this. If we consider your property is in an unacceptable condition, you may be prevented from moving or be recharged for work.

To avoid getting an unwelcome bill, follow these rules:

- Repair any damage caused to the property by you, your family or visitors to your home.
- Make good any changes you have made to your property e.g. put back any doors that you have removed.
- Make sure your garden is not overgrown and you have cleared all garden waste.
- Clear all your items from the inside and the outside of the property. This includes any loft space, external cupboards or sheds.
- Return all the keys to the Royal Borough's offices no later than midday on Monday (or Tuesday if it is a Bank Holiday). You will be charged a further week's rent if you do not return your keys on time.

If you leave repairs that are your responsibility, or items that require disposal you will be charged the cost of this work.

Special Collection Service

The Royal Borough offers a Special Collection Service for tenants who are moving and want to dispose of something big and bulky, like a sofa or a fridge, and even unwanted clothes and other textiles.

Simply contact Waste Services on 020 8921 4661 and tell them where you live and what you would like taken away.

Items we will collect include:

Fridges, freezers, washing machines, beds, sofas, clothes and carpets (carpets must be cut up and tied into manageable bundles that one person can carry).

Items we DO NOT collect include:

Fitted kitchens, bathroom suites, boilers, sheds, fences and rubble.

For further information, please contact Waste Services on 020 8921 4661.

Please leave your home in a good condition!

Mayor and team in a league of their own

THE MAYOR of the royal borough, Cllr Mick Hayes and his dedicated team of charity runners have been given a 'big thank-you' by South London Special League (SLSL) for their fundraising efforts in last month's London Marathon.

The SLSL is the Mayor's chosen charity for this year and are likely to raise around £6,000 for the SLSL, which support young athletes with disabilities.

Among the runners met the mayor were David James, Development Manager for London FA, Stacey Nicholls, Ernie Cole and SLSL trustee Steve James.

Sharon Brokenshire MBE Founder and Project Director of SLSL told GT: "Myself and everyone at The South London Special League are so very proud and honoured by our Runners commitment and determination.

"For many of them it was their first Marathon and they did it to support us - Thank You - You Are Amazing! The money raised will make a real difference to the many disabled people we support through sport.

This year, is different, her first as a senior and Jackie knows that the pressure is huge. "She has been competing for so long - she started at 6 - she's become almost immune to the pressure".

Ellis, now 17, trains hard four nights a week with a four-hour session on Saturday. She juggles training with schoolwork - teachers email her lessons - which she fits in between breaks in her schedule. "She took her GCSEs in a Bulgarian classroom last year," her mum said smiling, "she balances schoolwork and training quite well".

Blocks (GSB) - the registered charity which aims to nurture young athletes - helps fund her training acknowledging her hard work and commitment. "She gets free access to Greenwich leisure centres which really helps with her overall fitness," Jackie added. Peter Bunday, chair of Greenwich Starting Blocks was similarly supportive: "We exist to support athletes on their long sporting journey which we hope will lead to success at a regional, national and international level".

At the end of the year the World Championships beckon and potentially a place at Rio next year. "Now that would be something", Jackie was wistful, "to represent your country at the Olympics would be awesome". She's right and we wish Ellis all the best.

Ellis selected for European championships

by Richard Morgan

WITH two boxing brothers and an older boxing sister, Ellis O'Reilly's sporting future seemed certain. So just how has she managed to be selected for Ireland at the 2015 European Gymnastic Games in Baku, Azerbaijan in June.

"Ellis simply never took to boxing," her mother Jackie told Greenwich Time, "although she tried it for almost two years". Gymnastics was different and she loved it "at once", a decision she has never regretted. "She has just left for Ireland for the National Championships, an event that she came first in last year," Jackie went on proudly.
